UNDERGRADS IN ARTS MET LAST NIGHT

Initial Gathering Was Great Success

Professor Matthews Urges Creation of College Atmosphere

Last night the ballroom of the Union was the scene of a gathering of the members of the Arts Undergraduate Society. Teakle, the president of the Society, occupied the chair and brought the meeting to order shortly after eight o'clock. He called for suggestions and outlined the executive's plans for the coming year; to hold monthly meetings and to provide speakers for these. The executive have decided to hold the Arts dinner immediately after the January examinations. The president asked all those present to bring another student with them to assure a large attendance. It was announced that nominations for the position of the Arts Undergraduate Society must be submitted before Wednesday. After the minutes had been read, Mr. Hutchins was called upon.

Mr. Hutchins, after cracking several jokes appropriate to the rainy weather proceeded to burlesque certain types of novelettes and operas. These, especially the one about the musically inclined young man, whose bride fell into the sea, highly pleased his audience.

Professor Matthews was the next speaker. He pointed out one or two ambiguous allusions about his part in the write-up which had appeared in the college paper. Prof. Matthews placed Universities into categories; those which have yells and those which have not. And McGill, though in its yell professes to be "all right," realizes that it has certain defects and shortcomings, namely, the professors, the students, and the Arts Building.

He went on to outline the history of the relationship between the University and the town. He quoted extracts from the History of Oxford, wherein lists of casualties were given of those who died in some of the street fights of the Middle Ages. One of these fights, which took place in 1334, lasted for two days. And he pointed out regulations which are still in the constitution of Oxford University, which might lead one to believe that marching about taking "pot shots" with bows and arrows was one of the vices of the Oxford undergraduate of to-day. While the provision of Leipzig that a student must swear not to knife an instructor would delight the soul of many a freshman.

But this state of affairs has died out and nowadays students and citizens are found intermingling in the freest manner. However, to a University like McGill, situated in a large city, this friendly intercourse has grave dangers. For in a large city, everything can be bought for a price. Commodities, transportation, and amusements can all be bought. And the student in a great city becomes accustomed to buy his amusement rather than to create them.

FROSH-SOPHOMORE DINNERS TO-NIGHT

Cap Burning Festival on Old Campus Before Banquets

Tonight the Sophomores and Freshmen are officially friends, all rivalry is over, and no suggestion of class warfare disturbs the campus. The Arts Frosh entertain their wiser brothers at the Union, whose every possible preparation has been made. The two Science years will meet in the Venetian Gardens while Commerce will make things hum in the Mount Royal.

At 5 o'clock the old campus will see the eagerly-awaited festival of the cap-burning. This is a new idea, as far as McGill is concerned, and there is sure to be a large crowd present to see the Freshmen, admitted to the ranks of old McGill by the Sophs. It is sure to be touching to see the parting of the Frosh and their caps, and many first year men will find it hard to consign the companion of many days to the flames.

S.C.A. Students Heard Mr. Rose at Banquet

ANNUAL AFFAIR

Strathcona Hall Scene of Large Gathering

Mr. William Rose, M. A. (Oxon) the first Rhodes Scholar from the province of Manitoba, yesterday evening addressed a large number of members of the S. C. A. at the Annual Banquet of the Association. Mr. Rose took as his topic, Poland and the present European situation. His interesting talk was heartily applauded by all. Fred Howes suggested that each man introduce his left hand neighbour and announce his faculty so that all might know one another. This was agreed to and done. The Union Caterer then served an excellent banquet which everyone enjoyed. Davis gave the (Continued on Page 3)

EASTERNERS' SMOKER VERY SUCCESSFUL

Newfoundland Club Holds First Smoker

DR. HATCHER

Colonel Renouf Gives Talk on "Number Projects"

"Newfoundland is not a land of ice, snow and Eskimos, but rather one of green meadows, trout pools, and sport galore." So said C. F. Blackler president of the McGill Newfoundland Club at its first smoker held in the lounge room of the Union last night, and the spirit of the fifty odd students present bore out his statement. The smoker was a huge success in spite of the counter attraction of the Arts Undergrads upstairs.

Owing to the unavoidable absence of Dean Thornton of the Faculty of Dentistry, who was to have been the main speaker of the evening Colonel Renouf was called upon to take the floor and he amply filled the bill. Colonel Renouf has been away from Newfoundland for forty-two years, but still counts himself an Islander, and takes a great interest in all the affairs of his former home.

The principal part of his address was devoted to the reading of an exhaustive account of what is known as the "Humber Project," the details of which must have required a great deal of time and trouble to compile. The Humber project is a proposed contract between the British government, the Newfoundland government, and the Armstrong-Wentworth Company, with the object of developing the pulp and paper industry in the region of Junction-Brook and Brand Lake. The scheme involves the creation of a large pulp and paper mill to be operated by electricity obtained from near-by sources. This project, besides developing the natural resources of the country would give employment to a large number of men and would consequently tend to check the appalling migration of people to the mainland which has been taking place for the past few decades. The money for the scheme is to be raised by the sale of bonds guaranteed by the British government, and preferred work of the Armstrong-Wentworth Company. Judging from the statements made by Colonel Renouf the interests of Newfoundland in every possible way, and extraordinary development in some of the Newfoundland towns should result. According to him it is a mystery why there should be any criticism of the project as the plans are flawless.

Dr. Hatcher then tendered his resignation as honorary president of the Club. In a few well-chosen words he expressed his appreciation of the position which he has held for so long, but stated that owing to pressure of other duties his decision had to be accepted as final. Besides, he said, the flaghead on the ship had to be changed once in a while. In closing his brief speech he made a strong appeal to the men, especially those in Applied Science, to go back to Newfoundland not to die dreams, but to take an intelligent part in the affairs of the country.

DR. GRENFELL TO BE AT CAN. CLUB

Widely Known Doctor of Labrador Fame

The Canadian Club has secured for Nov. 13, the services of the well-known Dr. Grenfell, of Labrador and Newfoundland. A number of years some of the appalling conditions, under which the fishermen of Labrador and Newfoundland coasts existed, and eventually made it his life work to alter, and better these conditions. In Newfoundland, he found, that when the fishermen returned to St. John's, for example, from a two or three weeks fishing trip, the only places to which they could go, were the bars, taverns, etc., as they lacked the means and the suitable clothes necessary for a hotel. The result was that the money from their trip was spent in a few days.

THE DECLARATION OF PEACE

Only a few weeks have passed by since the freshman class came into being—a class composed of men with lost and harried looks; men with new books; men who did not know the Arts Building from the Museum; and men without friends, knowing scarcely a fellow-member of their class. So, with their advent they found themselves at the friendly mercy of the Sophomores. The situation is not unusual but comes about with due regularity each year, for the lower class men are of a necessity more or less disorganized. They are an unled flock and unless they show marked initiative and aggressiveness they are caught by the wiles and trap of their one year superiors.

The present year saw practically no exceptions and nearly every freshman had a large or small taste of initiation. To a few it was as poison but to the vast majority it was good fun. It meant the introduction to college life and it was the unofficial means of uniting and binding together the yearlings. To-day however, the time of trial will be brought to a conclusion and each freshman will officially take his place as a full fledged and properly introduced undergraduate of the University. At five o'clock it has been announced, the much heralded cap burning festival will take place on the old campus. The red and white headgear, the insignia of greenness and strangeness, will be reduced to ashes. The hatchet of war will be buried and peace will be declared. Banquets in the Union and in downtown hotels and cafes, will take place in the evening, and the freshmen will act as hosts to their one-time initiators, who are now their friends and fellow-undergraduates.

To-day's programme is an experimental one and the upper years are watching it with great interest. Co-operation of the most hearty nature is the one essential to success in to-day's venture and the sophomores and freshmen must work together if this method of the final declaration of peace is to be worthy of adoption in the future.

CONDENSED COMMENT

The elections for representatives to the Union House Committee are scheduled for tomorrow. Although several men are taking their places by acclamation, some keen fights are expected. The day of polling is but a few hours away. A little serious thinking on the matter of voting for the right man is worthy of at least slight consideration.

Quips today are making their debut, not unblushingly, for the season. The column in the past has been a great favorite with the readers and it is the hope of the present administration to keep it on as high a level as possible. Contributions and criticisms are welcome, for the former will help us in our work and the latter will show us just where and how we stand.

Certain freshmen, in more than one faculty, are being accused of refusing support for to-night's banquet. These hinderers should clearly understand that the custom of past years has been to banquet the sophomores and to declare peace. These annual dinners are in reality the climax of the period of initiation and it is the duty of all frosh, to help in every way to make this evening's functions marked successes.

McGILL GLEE CLUB GATHERING STRENGTH

The work of the Glee Club is progressing very favourably. While the membership has not reached the proportions anticipated, the numbers are gradually growing. The ranks were considerably depleted by graduation this spring but a lot of new men have turned out to fill the places of those who have gone. Each practice sees new members and the Club is still open to receive a few more. However, any students who are thinking of joining, are urged to do so at once, as the work is advancing on the songs for the first concert. Also, any students who are at all interested, are invited to become members—it is only necessary for them to be able to sing passably well; great talent is by no means required.

The prospects for the first concert, which will take place in December, are most promising. Mr. Harold Eustace Key, the conductor, procured a number of excellent selections, while in England during the summer and on these the club is working. If the progress which has been made in the last two or three practices continues, and there is no reason to believe that it won't—it is safe to predict that the concert this year will come up to, if not exceed, the high standard set at previous performances.

For the information of those who anticipate joining the Glee Club it

FINANCIAL DRIVE OF THE S.C.A. IS ON

Needs Full Support From All Students

The Students' Christian Association's Financial Drive commenced yesterday. The result was very gratifying, but a great deal of assistance is still needed. At a recent meeting, the following estimate of expenditure for the year 1923-24, was presented:

Printing and Stationery	$ 75.00
Office Supplies	30.00
Postage	70.00
Reading Room	65.00
Religious	100.00
Social	125.00
Conference	250.00
Missions	400.00

Total	2,815.00

The students' share of this total is $1,500. This leaves about $1,100 to be collected from other sources. The Association is ably headed by a board of directors and a Triumvirate, composed of H. R. C. Avison, B. A. F. S. Howes, and Errol C. Amaron, B. A.

The S. C. A. motto is "By the Students, for the Students."

In the course of the past year, 17 or 18 different societies held their meetings in Strathcona Hall. The Conversal, the weekly Sunday night "Sings," the Freshmen reception, and various Religious, Social, and International discussions are also held there. The reading room always provides a quiet and comfortable place for reading, with a good assortment of periodicals, and the second floor is a convenient place of meeting. One of the special features of the S. C. A., is the Y. M. C. A. Mission in Ceylon. Mr. Murray Brooks, a McGill graduate, is in charge of the sixteen stations, and is entirely supported by the students and graduates.

Rugby Game Played in Mud and Rain

SCORE 14-0

"Bobbie" Bell Proves Outstanding Star

Covered with mud and soaked to the skin the Arts faculty rugby team came to the surface after ducking their Commerce opponents in a scheduled Inter-Faculty game by the score of 14-0. The weather conditions made it impossible for any real football to be displayed and the turnout of spectators was very small. At the start of the game the field was in a very squelchy condition and as the rain continued to fall, by the end there were miniature lakes about the campus.

What little interesting play there was centred around the two diminutive half-backs Bell and Myers of the Arts team. These two men time and again slid through the Commerce line for long gains and both combined well in running back kicks. Bell not only broke over for a touch but brought his boot into play and in spite of the soggy ball kicked four points. His last effort went for two when Lehan who caught the ball was hustled behind his own line for a safety touch. Nairn shone at flying wing, while Bronson turned in a nice game on the back line.

For Commerce, Kelland and Kenrick were best. The latter although unsteady at times got away on a couple of nice fifteen yard gains. Kenrick tackled well and was one of the few who were getting low.

Arts kicked off and Eveleigh receiving attempted a long pass to an uncovered back, the ball proved slippery and eluded the grasp of the Commerce man. Arts recovering fifteen yards out. On the second down Bell wiggled across for a touch. It was unconverted. Arts 5, Commerce 0.

Commerce kicked off, Bell receiving ran the ball back to centre field. Arts made a strong headway until the Commerce defense stiffened on their twenty-five yard line. On the third down Bell kicked to Lehan who was downed for a rouge. Arts 6, Commerce 0. Changing over at quarter time Commerce showed a little life when Kelland broke through the centre for fifteen yards. A bad end run gave Arts their chance and Bell kicked to McCrae for another point. Arts 7, Commerce 0. Play became very sloppy and it was very difficult for the men to hold their feet. Arts scored on a Commerce fumble and after failing to make yards on two downs Bell kicked to Lehan who was thrown over his own line for a safety touch. Arts 9, Commerce 0.

Starting the second half Arts pressed hard and only bad footing prevented them from going over. Commerce were failing to hold their opponents as their tackling was so high that the ball carrier was enabled to slide an additional five yards on the slippery ground. Shortly after the start of the fourth quarter Commerce secured ten yards out from their own line and after making a gain round the short end, fumbled on an end run, that went behind their own line. Myers falling on it for a touch down his concluded the scoring. Final score Arts 14, Commerce 0.

The game was handled by Puddicombe and Goldie with Marsh acting as head linesman.

The line-up of the two teams was as follows:

SWIMMERS TO TRY FOR CAN. CHAMPIONSHIP

"Varsity" Sending a Relay Team

NATIONAL TANK

Many Records Are Expected to be Broken

The Canadian Swimming Championships take place on the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh of this month. They will be held at the National Swimming Baths, which are at 80 Cherrier St. The entries are as follows:

100 Yards.....C. Bourne
500 Yards.....J. R. Ross
1000 Yards.....G. E. Vernot
Four-man relay team—1. C. Bourne; 2. V. Clarholm; 3. J. B. Ross; 4. G. E. Vernot; spare, G. L. Vickerson.

All of these men have been working hard and are in splendid condition for the meet.

George Vernot is well known at McGill. He has won many Canadian Championships at distances up to a mile and a half. He was a member of the last Olympic team. Vernot has gained many points for McGill in swimming meets and water-polo games. As he is out to break records on Saturday a great performance may be expected from him. Vernot is the captain of the swimming team.

J. B. Ross has also been a prominent member of the McGill Swimming and Water Polo teams for the past three years. He is president of the club and captain of the senior water polo team.

Clayton Bourne although he is new to McGill brings with him a fine record. He is a Canadian Champion at the 50, 100 and 220 yard distances. He seems to be a likely choice for the next Olympic team.

Victor Clarholm is another newcomer to McGill. He is a fast swimmer and will be a useful man on the relay team. George Vickerson has been playing polo and swimming at McGill for three years.

Coach Vernot, who is untiring in his efforts to capture the championships for McGill, has splendid material under his direction. Toronto is sending down a relay team.

toast to "Our Alma Mater" making a few remarks about the great spirit at McGill both between professor and student and in sports.

Howes then called on Mr. Rose of Poland, the guest of honour, asking him to tell the guests something of Poland and the European situation.

Mr. Rose opened his remarks by expressing his thanks to all present for the fine welcome he had received. He felt himself a stranger in Canada as he had lived in Poland, but he was originally from Western Canada. The speaker then expressed his deep sorrow at not finding Mr. J. G. McKay at McGill. Mr. Rose said that anyone who had ever known Mr. McKay could never possibly forget him. He did not think it possible that he could come to McGill and not find J. G. there. Although Mr. McKay has passed on, his spirit is still at McGill and always will be. Montreal also feels the loss very deeply. Mr. Rose then proposed a silent toast to the late Mr. J. G. McKay, secretary of the S. C. A. at McGill.

Mr. Rose comes from Poland. The colours of Poland are red and white. He asked if McGill had taken the Polish colours or Poland McGill's. There are many fine universities in Poland and they all uphold their colours.

The political condition of Europe is very bad. It is very hard to get really enthusiastic, however, over politics for their sake alone. The difference between a politician and a statesman is that the latter looks towards the next generation and the former towards the next election.

All over Europe reconstruction is going on and especially in France. But the morale of the countries have not recovered. People are attempting to reconstruct politics while morals should come first. The change is the same as when the masters of an old house are put out and the servants put in command. Everyone was forced under the heel of the throne.

There was no freedom of thought, and students gave way to pessimism. They claimed that they had no chance, hence Nihilism sprang up. Some studied "philosophy of suicide" and others were for exterminating the ruling class. The Nihilists wanted to think their own thoughts without being sent to Siberia as was the case in Russia.

In the Germanic system of high schools every pupil was taught to know his purpose in life and to have everything in his future cut and dried. Then he had to follow it through out life even though it spell ruin. Americans don't make their choice till later in life and they enjoy life as optimists. The Europeans became pessimistic before they played and

There was no hope for them. There are no sports there, and a visiting student from Austria would not understand the excitement at the Queen's-Varsity game nor at the track meet the day before, because he could not see any result of importance. Students are poverty stricken and friendless. This leads them to suicide. Mr. Rose concluded his remarks by stating that one should not reap the harvest at college but merely sharpen the sickle there.

A vote of thanks was moved and seconded followed by "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". The banquet closed with general singing.

TENNIS STARS ARE INDOOR CHAMPIONS

At Montreal Indoor Tennis Club Courts

The Canadian Indoor Tennis Championships which commenced yesterday on the Montreal Indoor Tennis Club Courts has an entry which assures fine tennis and a striving contest. In the opening play the McGill players won all their matches and showed themselves to be adepts at this line of sport.

Jack Wright who holds the Quebec and Ontario doubles title with W. Crocker, defeated C. W. Leslie, the Canadian Junior Champion, in a two set match 6-3, 6-0. Crocker easily disposed of Nicholson, the veteran player winning two love sets 6-0, 6-0. Nicholson won a fine game from Carr 6-2, 6-1. In the doubles, Captain Innes-Taylor and Purkis put up a splendid fight against Nicholson and Leslie, making the latter do their utmost to win 6-3, 6-4.

Play will continue to-day and if the same brand of tennis is displayed, this year's tournament should be most keenly contested.

INTERFACULTY HARRIER MEET ON SATURDAY

Winners Will Have Good Chance of Making Team

FINE MATERIAE

McGill's Strongest Rival Will Likely be Varsity

The Harriers are holding the Inter-faculty meet on Saturday, Oct. 27th. The runners will leave the Stadium just before the beginning of the Intermediate game with H. M. C.

The will follow the usual mountain course, from the Stadium up Pine to Peel, thence on the Serpentine to the riding track. They will circle the track, then back on the Mountain Road past the upper Reservoir to Fletcher's Field. The course follows Park to Pine and then back to the Stadium. A lap and a half on the cinder track completes the 5.6 mile run.

This race is a testing-out for the Intercollegiate team. However, the Athletic Committee reserves the right to choose others than those who gain places in Saturday's race, if they see fit to do so.

Three cups and three medals are the prizes for the first six men in. These winners will have reason to be proud of their speed, for the Cups and Medals are exceptionally fine. The winner will be given a splendid cup to keep permanently. The competition will be very keen, for Coach Van Wagner says he has never had better material. However, it is not too late for really keen men to turn out. These newcomers will be welcomed at the Stadium any afternoon by the Coach.

Saturday's race should be one of the best runs ever held by the long-distance men of McGill, and it seems quite likely that the record, made in 1920 by Bill Antliffe, will be equalled if not excelled.

Only two men of last year's team remain, Wiggins and Egerton. This means that practically six places are still left open.

The Intercollegiate Meet will be held at Varsity a week Saturday. There will be four teams entered, Queen's, R. M. C., Varsity and McGill. Varsity will likely be McGill's strongest opponent. The Toronto man Goforth, won here last year, while Shaver was a very close 3rd, in the 3 miles. Varsity has been having fine turnouts so their team should be good.

Every candidate is expected to be out for the practise at 5 p.m. If any man would like to see the plan of the course, Mr. Hall of the Diocesan College will be at his service.

There was no hope for them. There are no sports there, and a visiting student from Austria would not understand the excitement at the Queen's-Varsity game nor at the track meet the day before, because he could not see any result of importance. Students are poverty stricken and friendless. This leads them to suicide. Mr. Rose concluded his remarks by stating that one should not reap the harvest at college but merely sharpen the sickle there.

A vote of thanks was moved and seconded followed by "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow". The banquet closed with general singing.

The Blushing Bride
They tell us of the blushing bride
Who to the altar goes,
Down the centre of the church
Between the friend-filled rows.
There's Billy, whom she motored with,
And Bob with whom she swam,
There's Jack, she used to golf with
And Steve, she called her lamb, him;
There's Ted, the football man she owned
And Don of tennis days,
There's Herbert, yes, and blonde Eugene

And there is Harry, high school beau,
With whom she used to rush,
No wonder she's the blushing bride,
Who took her to the plays,
Ye Gods! She ought to blush!

U. of Mich. Lose Coach

It has been reported from Ann Arbor that Fielding H. Yost, coach of the University of Michigan football team for the past 23 years, will retire at the close of the season.

He made the statement before the Michigan Press Club at Ann Arbor Thursday night. The veteran coach intimated last year that last season would be his last but this fall again found him at the head of the Wolverine grid force.

It is understood that George Little, former coach at Miami and Yost's assistant for the past two years, will take his place. Yost, if he does retire, will remain as director of athletics.

Hazing at U. of N. Y.

Pedestrians passing the Public Library at 42nd Street yesterday morning were startled by what appeared to be a maniac giving a speech from the steps, for his face was blackened, his hair running wild, pants rolled up to his knees and his legs blacked, clothes on backward. He was a Commerce Fresh being hazed by the Sophomores.

He first entertained the crowd with some songs. But, that was only the introduction. The best number was a speech on "Which came first the egg or the chicken." He chose as another subject a question of interest to the scientific mind "Why the ocean is so close to the shore."

The next stop was at Broadway and 42nd Street. Here he made a eloquent speech on "Our Courageous Cops."

This lecture was also well attended. After a banquet consisting of ice cream and soda, the party returned to school via the subway. The speaker made further use of his voice by calling out the stations, rendering invaluable assistance to the subway guard.

Ku Klux Klan at Harvard

Started two years ago and ever since, month by month, growing more powerful, the Harvard Ku Klux Klan has only been waiting for the favorable moment to show its strength.

And now there are indications that the next few weeks will see the largest drive yet for Klan membership. As yet the branch has worked under considerable secrecy but coupled with this drive the Harvard public may expect to see the Klan pursue a more open policy, leading probably to a formal statement to its aims and platform.

The Harvard Klan was started some two years ago and made its influence felt with a membership drive. At that time a Mr. W., the organizer of the Chicago chapter and an Imperial officer of the Klan, and a Mr. T., were most active in furthering the organization. But the greatest strength and size of the Klan has come only in the past six months.

Questioned the other day concerning the plans of the organization a prominent member hesitated to admit this inactivity. "The Harvard Klan," he said, "is inactive. But it is very far from being disorganized, nor can I say that even now its influence is unfelt." And the remarks and actions of associate members fully bear out his statement.

Hazing Banished at U. of Southern Cal.

Attempts to reorganize the method of enforcing traditions through a process of education rather than physical force is the big aim of the University of Southern California this year, according to Harry Silke, Student Body President.

Stating that the University has no other choice in the methods of enforcement since the abolition of hazing by Dr. R. B. von Kleinsmid, President of the University, Mr. Silke went on to give his views on the subject.

In the opinion of Mr. Silke the aim of the newly organized Trojan Knights will be to develop loyalty among the upper classmen and to get them to cooperate in this new system in order that they may set an example to the lower classmen and educate them up to the standards of U. S. C., rather than using the "rough stuff" of former years.

U. of Rochester

Rivalry between the sophomores and freshmen will be resumed at the Varsity-Alleghany game a week from tomorrow. It will take the form of the game.

Last year, Dr. Fauver head of the physical education department, recommended that a football game be played to further satisfy the rivalry of the two classes, but owing to lack of football men among the sophomores the undertaking has to be dropped. This year the sophomores are lacking at football practices, making it impossible to stage any contest between the opinion of Dr. Fauver, football should be substituted for many of the interclass contests, or at least supplement them.

Y.M.C.A. WORK IN E. EUROPE SUCCESSFUL

M.S.P.E. Undergraduate Society Hears Mr. Rose

PHYSICAL WORK

Great Future for Teachers of Physical Education

The M.S.P.E. Undergraduate Society held a meeting yesterday at three o'clock in the R.V.C. The speaker for the afternoon was Mr. Rose, who gave an interesting address on Physical conditions in Europe and America. His opening topic was "Play for Work and Work for Play," in which he emphasized the importance of playing and working in the right spirit.

Mr. Rose spoke very forcibly on the Prussian system of education, by which everything is done so systematically that it kills all individuality and instinct. In Junior Schools there are no playgrounds and apparatus for play—with the result that fear and repression are created. He compared the childhood of Eastern Europe in which all individuality is crushed and the childhood of America where the natural instincts and love for play are encouraged and developed. He then went on to speak of College life in Eastern Europe and the appalling lack of games and team work of any description. Thus, loneliness among students was very prevalent as there was little comradeship and no safe outlets for their emotions. Their idea of sport was fencing, to uphold their honour. He concluded by telling how the Y.M.C.A. went to Eastern Europe after the war and practically turned everything upside down. He mentioned a few of the terrible physical conditions that existed and of the work that is being carried on by the W.M.C.A., Y.W.C.A., and the Pathfinders.

"There is a great future for teachers of Physical Education," Mr. Rose said, and he expressed a great interest in Schools for Physical Education.

The meeting was well attended, not only by the M.S.P.E., but by the R.V.C. students also. Mr. Rose's address was, on the whole, clear cut, and in spite of very short notice, he seemed to have a very definite plan of attack and drove his points home very forcibly. The student body enjoyed him so much that Mr. Rose was detained to answer several questions. A hearty vote of thanks was tendered to him.

At the close of the meeting, Miss Roy reminded the students that the S.C.A. campaign opens on the twenty-fourth and closes on the twenty-sixth. She made a brief statement as to what the money was needed for. It was due to the S.C.A. that the M.S.P.E. had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Rose this afternoon.

EDITED BY THE DAILY DRAGON

Quips—meet all the little freshettes and freshies. Freshettes and freshies—meet Quips. (If the order of procedure is wrong please blame any standard book of etiquette and not the editor. He is new, still lives in bliss and his head is surrounded by a halo of ignorance.) But now the introduction is over and we have known each other for twenty-nine seconds or less. Let's call everybody else by everybody else's first names and then everybody will be happy. Time has proved that Quips is a vicious taskmaster and with the passing of each year, there has also been the passing of an editor. Each has died in the harness. None survive. There was the Office boy, the Office Dog, the Office Nuisance, Anonymous, and a host of others. Each one was sacrificed on the altar of Quips and to the sound of solemn music we buried them one by one.

And that's that. But this year there is a new man on the task. (Job is too vulgar a word). He is the Daily Dragon, who looks down from the walls of the sanctum sanctorum, and it is hoped that he will weather the battle for many seasons to come. At times he may grow a bit; at other times he may accidentally take a bit out of the calf of people's mental legs—or should it be limbs? But at all times he is merely enjoying himself. Do not take him seriously and if he snaps too often slap his face and let it go at that. Hail, then, the Dragon, with harp, cymbals, saxophones, tin-pans, and jazz bands in general. Enter Quips and witness the first atrocity.

DR. GRENFELL TO BE AT CANADIAN CLUB

superintended the building of the splendid "Sailors' Home" which is run at a very low rate, with much the same atmosphere as a Y.M.C.A. Arrangements were also made for a course of instruction in what would be considered everyday housekeeping, but of which the average fisherman was entirely ignorant.

In Labrador, he found deplorable conditions resulting from an absolute lack of the most simple "first-aid" knowledge. As a doctor, he gave his services to them, and finally, through the financial aid, and interest of philanthropists of the entire continent, was able to establish several hospital posts, giving free services. He also secured practical teachers in various lines, and established more frequent contact with the extremely isolated points by means of two "Hospital Schooners."

Teacher: "Willie, why were you late this morning?"
Willie: "My mother had to wash my penisula."
Teacher: "Your what?"
Willie: "My penisula! Didn't you tell me yesterday that a penisula was a neck of land?"

FOR BETTER JOURNALISTS

"Nothing could be easier than the work of a journalist. From morning to night he moves in the company of high finance, in the gilded halls of society, the drama, concerts, the movies. His life is full of interesting and bizarre experiences. He hobnobs with famous men; he receives big black cigars from all the business men of the metropolis; each day he reads dozens of letters from his fair correspondents."

That is probably the current conception of journalism and journalists that the layman holds today. Nothing can be better established than the above yet for all that, the journalist works hard and there are times when it really looks as though he worked harder than many others. The life of the journalist is not one grand, sweet comic song punctuated by rich foods and foreign news. It is a life of writing and re-writing and drudgery and hurry and deadlines and editions and extras and more writing and more re-writing.

No one can deny that the newspaper is one of the most important institutions of the present order. It is the organ not only of public information but of public opinion. It is the mirror of our times. And the journalist is the newspaper's humble servant. If we must have newspapers, let us have good newspapers; and if we must have journalists, let us have good journalists.

DEMONSTRATIONS IN HYPNOTISM TO-NIGHT

The initial meeting of the Psycholo- logical Society will take place in the lounge room of Strathcona Hall at 8 o'clock this evening. The Society have been very fortunate in securing the services of Mr. H. R. de Silva, M. A. Mr. de Silva is known internationally as an authority on Hypnotism and it is appropriate therefore, that he should choose this subject for his lecture to- night. Mr. de Silva will also illus- trate his talk by a series of practical demonstrations which should be of great interest to all students of Psy- chology.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE LECTURE AND PLAY

The first meeting of the Societe Francaise is to be held this after- noon at four o'clock in the R. V. C. Common Room. Those R. V. C. students who were unable to hear Monsieur Thomas on Monday at the "Alliance Francaise" would do well to take this opportunity of hearing the well known French author and lectur- er.

In addition to M. Thomas lecture a short play will be presented which will no doubt be of a very entertain- ing nature. Tea will be served at the close of the meeting.

A large attendance is requested and a special invitation is extended to the Freshies.

UNDERGRADS IN ARTS MET LAST NIGHT

which these amusements are brought. And they are those calling for the least effort on the part of the audience. The exaggeration deadens all perceptions, all appreciations, and robs the patron of the cinema of whatever natural taste he has.

Then Prof. Matthews mentioned the likeness, according to some people's ideas of a University to a departmental store. All these ideas and influ- ences are the Philistines of modern times and these must be awarded. "In contrast to us take as our ideal for the University, a universal jointly com- posed of the social and intellectual pursuits. And let us make the life of the student a life different from that of the ordinary citizen.

To do this there must be a Universi- ty atmosphere. And to make this University atmosphere the poorer amusement offered by the town must yield before those made by the stu- dents. Prof. Matthews said he felt sure that there were more good jokes made at the Library than at a the- atre, and that more wit was shown at the Union than at the gayest vaude- ville.

At Oxford each man has his rooms where congenial gatherings are held and a University spirit thus fostered. At McGill, however, until there are dormitories this will be greatly ham- pered in development. But there is the McGill Union where clubs and societies meet. Prof. Matthews thought that there should be more of these clubs and that they should preferably be small informal affairs. These which are more spontaneous and mer- rily, aid greatly in forming that Uni- versity atmosphere which is distinctly apart from a studious atmosphere.

The ideal of a University like Mc- Gill should be that to form a commu- nity and not as one severing his con- nection at nightfall. And the man who lived in an atmosphere such as this would derive benefits far greater than he who merely attended lectures.

The creating of such an ideal and such an atmosphere should be work for Arts men in particular.

Professor Matthews' address was re- ceived with great enthusiasm and ap- plause.

Erol Amaron said a few words at the end of the meeting, giving espe- cial praise to the Arts freshmen for deciding to dine their Sophomores at the Union. He also recalled the wise decision of the Arts Undergraduate Society who held their dinner at the Union last year, and showed how Arts creating a precedent which, he felt, would be followed in days to come.

Mr. Hutchins, accompanied by Wil- lard, rendered a ditty concerning a gentleman who had a professed crav- ing for salt.

Newton made a motion thanking Prof. Matthews and Mr. Hutchins, and then refreshments were served in the cafeteria.

S.C.A. MEETING AT STRATHCONA HALL

At 7 o'clock this evening the first monthly meeting of the Students' Christian Association will be held in Strathcona Hall, and all those inter- ested are cordially invited to be present.

The chief speaker will be Mr. Wm. Ross M.A., and at the conclusion of the lecture he will give those present an opportunity to ask questions and discuss the subject. The gathering will be purely informal.

Did: Pa, what's a green grincer?
Jude: One who gets only 100% profit. —Jude.

OPPORTUNITY OF BECOMING R.A.F. PILOTS

Science Students Only Are Permitted to join

AT CAMP BORDEN

Comments of C.O.T.C. Candidate at Camp Last Summer

The C. O. T. C. is offering men in- terested in the R. C. A. F. a splendid opportunity to learn to fly. To be eli- gible for selection, a candidate must be—

(a) A member of the C. O. T. C., who has performed the requisite quali- fying service and passed the practical examination for certificate "A", C. O. T. C.

(b) An Undergraduate in Applied Science.

(c) Physically fit for Air Force ser- vice as a Pilot.

(d) Unmarried.

(e) Under 21 years of age at the commencement of the course.

(f) Recommended by the Military Committee of the University as likely to become an efficient officer.

(g) Given an undertaking to complete the course.

The orderly Room will supply all in- formation.

The following notes were written by a student who took the course last year, at Camp Borden:—

Flying—

From 10-15 hours during first summer, taught to handle the machine but not allowed to go alone until after 20 hours in the air. There is very little danger as the planes are all tested before the pupil is allowed to go up. The airplanes used are all the stand- ard British Training machines (The Avro 504K) with dual control, so that if the pupil should get into any difficulties the instructor (an experi- enced war pilot) can take over the con- trol.

Quarters—

Cadets live in the officers quarters which have all modern con- veniences (free of cost). They also have the services of a batman.

Mess—

Cadets use the officers mess which includes, the mess proper, the anti-room with a piano, gramophone and numerous musical instruments. The current magazines and papers are at the disposal of Cadets. Adjoining the anti-room is the pool and billiard room which is open to cadets. The best of meals are served in the din- ing room usually four meals are served a day, with the option of afternoo- tea. Meals cost 75 cents a day which should be the only expenses a cadet should have at camp. A canteen which keeps an extensive line of goods is convenient should anything be re- quired.

Recreation—

A splendid nine-hole golf course, cement tennis courts and a good sized out-door swimming tank are at the disposal of Cadets. Games of base- ball are arranged with neighboring teams as well as golf and tennis tour- naments which are run off during the summer. Each year one day is set aside for sports and in eagerly looked forward to by all in camp. Numerous events are held during the day with a big dance at night, at which prizes of no mean value are given to the lucky contestants. A dance is held every two weeks in the officer's mess which is open to officer's, their friends and cadets. Two or three mornings a week drill and P. T. are given. The Physical Training usually takes the form of some game.

Clothing—

All clothing and uniforms are supplied free; it is quite unnecessary to furnish any.

Discipline—

Cadets are treated as officers and are governed by very little dis- cipline except on parades; they are not allowed to fraternize with alrmen (other ranks).

Hours—

Usually arise around six when an early breakfast is served, have breakfast at eight, lectures from 9.30 to 12 then dinner, then as a rule there is some practical work to be done after which Cadets are free for the day. On two days a week the after- noons are devoted to sports.

The Camp—

Camp Borden covers an area of forty square miles but only a small portion of this is now being used by the R. C. A. F. for training purposes. At the camp there are some 200 of- ficers and men. The Camp is situated between Georgian Bay and Lake Simcoe and is four miles from the C. P. and C. N. Railways.

Any member of the staff or any undergraduate who is an officer of militia, or in the Reserve of officers, or who was an officer in the C. E. F., O. M. F. C., B. E. F., the Royal Navy, a cadet or officer in the R. A. F., or in the army or navy of an ally is cordially invited to be present. An invitation will be sent to all McGill men known to have served in one of the above forces, but as the lists are very incomplete, all who do not receive their invitations are asked to call at the Orderly Room of the Mc- Gill C. O. T. C. between 5 and 6 p.m.

TELEPHONES

Who was the man who invented long distance telephones, and who decreed that calls after midnight should be cheaper than day calls?

This is the cry of long-suffering coeds in organization houses, who complain that almost nightly they are awakened from their slumbers by the jangling of the telephone; then are forced to listen to the customary pattering back and forth from 'phone to bed, bed to 'phone, the stage whispers which accompany the summoning of the recipient of the call; and finally to the inevitable "I say to him" and "he says to me."

"Line" Worth Hearing

"If we could just hear all the con- versation," one abused "gang" mem- ber who, it is suggested, has no fond lover to call her, said, "it might be worth lying awake to hear. But as it is, these maddening one-sided argu- ments, concerning everything from heated quarrels or tongue lashings or expected letters not received, to soft- voiced love messages are enough to cause nightmares or sleeplessness."

Keep out of ruta. A ruta is something which.

If travelled in too much, becomes a ditch.

So, Mr. Indiana Bell, for the con- venience of young women who are in need of sleep while in the pursuit of the higher education, it is moved and seconded that you raise the toll for midnight calls to a price which would exceed that of the day mes- sages. Thereby might this discom- fort be eliminated, it is believed.
